CLYDE P. STEEN MUST PAY HIS WIFE ALIMONY

Former Lima Newspaper Man Now in Washington.

Clyde P. Steen, former Lima newspaper man, now secretary of the National Anti Blue Law League and a resident of Washington, was ordered to pay his wife, Mrs. Brighta Steen, now of Findlay, $1,000 a month and $15 a week for the support of Charles, eight a son, in common pleas court yesterday.

Friday's Lima Republican Gazette, Steen being from here. Mrs. Steen was granted an absolute divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. Judge E. R. Eastman, of Ottawa, presided.

The outstanding feature of the testimony offered by Mrs. Steen and her sister, Mrs. Pearl Snyder also of Findlay, was the charge that Steen failed to attend the funeral of his daughter, Kathleen, nine who died last July 18. They said that at the time of the funeral Steen was in Cincinnati and was notified of the daughter's death.

Mrs. Steen said that while they were residents in Lima her husband frequently remained away from home for days at a time.

While he was earning $35 a week in Lima Mrs. Steen alleged, her husband refused to provide necessities of life. She said his employers frequently paid the grocery gas and electric light bills.

NEW AUTO LAW IS CAUSING COMPLAINT
Notary Gets Fifty Cents, County Twenty-Five Cents.

The new law requiring all owners of second-hand motor vehicles to file with the clerk of courts a bill of sale to prove ownership of the machine has caused a number of complaints to be made.

The interpretation of the law is that a sworn statement shall be filed and that the fee for filing the same with the clerk shall be ten cents for every hundred words.

With the blanks being approximately of the same length, the fee being charged is twenty-five cents for the filing. However, the requirement of a sworn statement fails to say that this must be done before a notary who is at liberty to do it for nothing or charge a fee of forty cents.

This makes the total expense sixty-five cents, besides an unusual amount of trouble and time.

L. E. Craig, a notary and deputy state registrar of automobiles, has sworn between 800 and 1,000, and a large number have not filed up to date.

Owners of new machines purchased from a manufacturer or manufacturer's agent are not required to file a bill of sale.

TRI-COUNTY FAIR AT RICHWOOD OVER TODAY
It Has Been a Success in Every Department.

Richwood, O., Aug. 6.—[Special]—The tri-county fair will close this evening. Yesterday and today were homecoming days and many former residents attended. The attendance this week has been very good, there being large crowds every day. The races have been good.

Mrs. William O'Brien, known as the human fly, who with her husband was here yesterday, climbed the three-story I. O. O. F. building last night at 5:30 o'clock, attracting a large crowd.

SURE! SOMEBODY WANTS THIS BLUE-EYED BOY
He Wants To Be Adopted and He's a Bandy.

He's just a big, fat, blue-eyed baby, with a smile that works overtime, and all he's asking for is a home with some big-hearted daddy and mother for life.

The boy is two months old, has been "interviewed" any time at the L. H. detention home in Marion street.

In addition to all the charms possessed by normal babyhood at two months, the youngster carries with him a perfect health certificate, a food card, and legal adoption papers.

Now, surely, with these qualifications this big, fat blue-eyed baby will soon have a permanent address.

INDUCEMENTS HELD OUT FOR POSTOFFICE SERVICE

Examinations for Clerk and Carrier Here October 1.

A civil service examination for the positions of clerk and carrier in the local postoffice will be held October 1, at the postoffice.

The entrance salary for these positions is $1,400 a year with a salary of $1,500 the fifth year, under the automatic promotion of $100 yearly increase. Eight hours constitutes the working day and overtime on any regular working day is paid for as such, at the regular rate of pay.

In addition to the salaries known as the automatic grades, there are two grades of special clerkship paying salaries from $1,900 to $2,000 a year to which the more efficient and deserving employees are promoted. These promotions are based on merit so that the capable, industrious, loyal worker is given unrestricted opportunity for advancement.

After permanent appointment there are no lay-offs and reductions in forces are so rare as to be almost negligible. Automatic retirement on an annuity is provided for at the age of sixty-five years or in case of disability after fifteen years service, the maximum annuity being $720 for thirty years of service.

The privileges include all national holidays, a total of seven annually fifteen days' annual vacation with pay exclusive of Sundays and holidays, sick leave with pay at the rate of ten days a year cumulative for a period of three years. Employees are not required to work on Sundays or holidays unless absolutely necessary and for all such service are allowed compensatory time.

Under the employees' compensation act if injured in the service and totally disabled, the employee is entitled to receive not exceeding $68.66 a month during such disability. Provision is also made for smaller payments on partial disability for medical surgical and hospital services and for payment of annuities to dependents in case of death as a result of such injuries as well as the sum of $100 toward burial expenses and transportation expenses of body if away from home.

MRS. WILLIAM BRITTON VICTIM OF PARALYSIS

Funeral at Durfee Home Sunday at 4 P. M.

Mrs. Henriette Britton, widow of William Britton died from paralysis at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Durfee, No. 651 Florence street Friday evening at 7:25 o'clock. She had been an invalid for fifteen years and her death was due to paralysis, she having suffered the second stroke three weeks ago.

Mrs. Britton was seventy-five years of age, having been born at Green Camp April 12, 1856, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wynn. She had passed her entire life in this county.

Mrs. Britton was twice married and the mother of seven children, those surviving being Mrs. Ida Harriman, Perry Dawson, Mrs. William Durfee, Mrs. Nora Call and Martin Dawson, all of Marion.

The funeral will be held from the Durfee home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Dr. J. D. Darling officiating. Interment will be made in the Marion cemetery.

MISS LELAH M. DANIEL WEDS SAMUEL B. FOLK

They Will Make Their Home in Cleveland.

Richwood, O., Aug. 6.—[Special]—Miss Lelah M. Daniel, of Richwood, and Mr. Samuel B. Folk, of Cleveland, were married this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Josephine McDaniel, of this place. Rev. H. C. Gillespie, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Folk is a graduate of the Richwood High school and of Ohio State university. For the past year she was employed as a teacher in English in the Richwood High school. Mr. Folk is a professor in Case college.

Mr. and Mrs. Folk left immediately following the ceremony on a motor trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Cleveland.

MORROW COUNTY IS TO HAVE FISH HATCHERY

Desirable Site Selected Mile East of Mt. Gilead.

At a banquet of the Morrow county Fish & Game association, Thursday night, it was decided to subscribe $1,000 for a fish hatchery under the jurisdiction of the state. The site selected is a mile east of Mt. Gilead and comprises eighteen acres. It was formerly known as the Marquette Springs at the old dam and will make an ideal hatchery.

There were about 250 at the banquet which was held at the site of the proposed hatchery. Nearly three hundred pounds of fish were consumed.

FROM OUR READERS
Governor Len Small.

Editor Star:—The principle of our republican form of government is that every citizen under 21 is a sovereign, and every sovereign is amenable to the sovereign law that is enacted by the sovereign people in their majority rule. Also sovereign can it then be even supposed by any deduction of law or logic, that the persons who exercise any inferior or supreme power under the government of the United States or a state, are less amenable to the laws than the other members of the state?

The constitution and laws made in pursuance thereof, by a state make no such distinctions, nor can it. This is what we mean, as President Harding has always contended, when we say that we want a government of law, and not of men. Could we not say that their official position strengthens their duty of obedience to their own laws of their state? Should not the executive power in a state conform to the rules made under the constitution, for the preservation of civil society? Is not the example of refusing to obey the law which the executive member chosen by the people refuses to abide by, a greater violation of law in effect than that of an ordinary member of the government? What effect has it upon the criminal who commits an inferior crime, and is immediately called to answer and the member high in authority is let run at large and defies the law? Then let the government without bail or arrest, but had he been a poor man in the position of citizen sovereignty in his state, would not in all the officers of the law had him in jail or under arrest and bond? Then let us have a government of law made by men, but not a government of men without the enforcement, equal enforcement of law.

HIGHWAY INFORMATION FOR TOURING MOTORISTS
Report Shows Condition of the Roads—Marion Mentioned.

The first report of the state highway department on the condition of main Ohio highways has been issued. The report, designed for tourists, shows the following facts.

Columbus-Sandusky By way of Worthington, Delaware, Wildo, Broken, Kirkpatrick, Bucyrus, Broken, Bloomville, Republic, Bellevue. Total 115 miles. Three detours. South of Worthington five and one-half miles, all good; between Delaware and Wildo eleven and one-half miles, fair. Bridge out south of Bloomville. Temporary bridge safe for light traffic only. Good macadam detour for heavy traffic. Route in good condition except ten miles rough macadam between Marion and Bucyrus.

Cleveland-Columbus By way of Elvira, LaGrange, Spencer, Homerville, Sullivan, Polk, Ashland, Olivesburg, Mansfield, Gallon, Wheatstone, Mount Gilead, Cardington, Ashley and Delaware. A total of 160 miles. Columbus-Cincinnati By way of West Jefferson, London, Summerford, Springfield, Yellow Springs, Xenia, Dayton, Miamisburg, Franklin, Middletown, Hamilton. A total of 132 miles.

This is the best Cleveland, Columbus-Cincinnati route. In general, in very good condition. Worst stretches Sullivan east towards Homerville, two and one-half miles of worn out very rough macadam. From Olivesburg to Mansfield, eight and one-half miles rough macadam detour. Mansfield and Gallon, two miles, rough macadam.

Detours—Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati route, between Mansfield and Gallon, four and a half miles, concrete, macadam and gravel. Macadam rough.

West of Mansfield, four and a quarter miles, all improved except one and a quarter miles between Gallon and Mt. Gilead, twelve miles, six miles good concrete, four and a half miles poor macadam, one and a half miles dirt road. North of Ashley two miles dirt and macadam and between Delaware and Columbus, south of Worthington, five and a half miles good road.

An alternate route between Columbus and Cincinnati, somewhat shorter than the above route follows: By way of West Jefferson, London, South Charleston, Cedarville, Xenia, Springfield, Valley, Wayneville, Lebanon, Mason and Sharonville, total of 108 miles. Between London and Cincinnati gravel and stone road, generally fair for travel. Short detour between Sharonville and Cincinnati.

Columbus-Toledo—By way of Marysville, Mt. Victory, Kinton, Dunkirk, Findlay, Bowling Green and Perrysburg—total of 131 miles, with four detours: Between Columbus and Marysville, twenty-four miles detour, eight miles good, sixteen miles fair; north of Kinton, three and a quarter miles detour, two and a quarter miles good, one mile fair; Dunkirk and Findlay, eight miles detour, all fair macadam; Findlay and Bowling Green, five-mile detour, fair macadam.

Route in good condition except two and one-half miles rough macadam, south of Mt. Victory; seven and one-half miles rough macadam between Mount Victory and Kinton; two miles rough macadam north of Dunkirk; and two miles rough macadam south of Arlington.

Cleveland-Sandusky, by way of Lorain, Vermillion and Huron, total fifty miles. One detour west of Lorain, two and three-fourths miles fair gravel and cinder. Excellent all the way.

Cleveland-Akron-Canton, by way of Bedford, Twinsburg, Hudson, Stow's Corners, Akron, Fairview, Wood and North Canton, total fifty miles. No detours. Brick all the way, except three miles bluffs south of Bedford.

Vacations and Summer Homes.

Near every city there are summer homes that are either closed or used very little in the summer season.

In every city there are worthy working girls who have not the means to rent summer homes. These girls would be delighted with the opportunity of passing their vacations in some such home, and the idea has been advanced that in every city the president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs ought to see to it that "their dreams come true." It would not be much trouble for the thoughtful club women to have placed in some of these vacant summer homes, even for a short time, working girls who otherwise would never know the pleasure of such a vacation.

There are summer homes that their owners without doubt would be glad to "let out" for such an admirable project. City federations standing sponsor for the good reputation of the girls and as the guarantor or any damage. However, it is not anticipated that the homes are to be damaged by the occupants—that, at least has not been the history of the movement where it has been successfully tried—but the guaranty is made as evidence of good faith on the part of the federation.

It is not too late yet this summer to adopt some plan of welfare work along the line suggested. Jot down the number of summer homes you know to be closed or vacant during the most of the summer and the names of their owners, and then put down the names of working girls you know would be made supremely happy had they the privilege of going to one of the homes you have listed to remain for her summer vacation with a genial number of other girls.

Hotel Headquarters Rates.
Hotel Gibson, which will be the headquarters for the state convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, in Cincinnati, in October, has supplied the following rates at the request of Mrs. Elmer Lawrence, No. 856 Locust street, Cincinnati, convention secretary.
Single room, with shower bath, $2.50 and up; single room, with tub bath, $2.75 and up; double room, with two beds and tub bath, outside court, $6 and up; double room, with shower bath, inside court, $5 and up; double room with one bed, shower bath, inside court, $4.50 and up.

Sidney as Club Center.
Few cities in the state the size of Sidney have as many federated clubs. Its federation is made of fifteen wide-awake clubs, including the Business Girls' association, with a total membership of about 400. Ongoing efforts on the part of the civil welfare committee of the federation are designed to place at least two women on the new health board with a view of procuring medical examination in the public schools.

The members of this committee are planning next year to look after the undernourished children. Each Christmas time the children's comfort committee of the Sidney federation purchases for the inmates in the children's home. Among these are dolls. The dolls have to be dressed, of course, and so there is a doll day when dresses are made. Each club woman takes with her on this a day a covered dish and sews all day for the dollies. Clothing is furnished to the needy children. The past year the federation gave $25 to the loan scholarship fund, $25 to charity, $500 to the support of the visiting nurse, $100 to the Business Girls' association to aid in buying a new home and $100 to the City hospital. Mrs. W. O. Amann, president of the federation, is recognized as a vitalizing influence in the community.

THE DELTOR

"Able to use more expensive goods"

"Evening dresses are so expensive to buy these days so I decided to make one. I purchased a Butterick Pattern—it contained a DELTOR. I have seen it advertised and determined to give it a trial. It was not found wanting, for I easily finished the dress in the short time allotted and was proud of my work."

"I was able to get more expensive goods, for I found the DELTOR method allowed me less goods than another pattern which I had on hand. At first I was skeptical, but when I saw it actually laid out on the goods—well, I couldn't doubt any longer."

"The DELTOR method is indeed a life-saver for those who want to make their own clothes."

A great many people interpret the meaning of things to suit themselves—so do some stories.

They publish advertisements and when you answer them you find that the way you interpreted the meaning is altogether different than you thought it was.

Through their desire to get you to come to their store they lose sight that you came for a definite purpose, for some special thing they promise you.

The article at the price is either all gone, or what is left you could buy at any time at practically your own price because one wants it at any price.

Haven't you found it so? The policy of this store does not sanction misrepresentation nor do we allow anything designed to mislead a single purchaser.

We want integrity in its broadest sense developed to its fullest possible limit.

Enrico Caruso

His Voice Still Lives

The "golden notes" of Caruso are not for this generation alone. Through the modern miracle of the Victrola they "belong to the ages."

The world-famous tenor sang only for the Victrola. Whether it is the heart-break of his Visti la giubba or a rollicking street song of his beloved Naples, you'll find his choicest records in Ackerman's Victrola Department. Among them:

SAYS CARUSO WAS LIKE BIG BOY, FRIEND TO ALL

Loafed with Stage Hands and "Bummed" Cigaretts.

MRS. E. F. SHARPLESS
PICTURES GREAT TENOR

Marion Woman Premier Dancer with Metropolitan Opera Company for Years.

"No, I don't think the world will ever know another Caruso."

Somehow one knew from Madame Bianchi's expressive brown eyes she was thinking of the days when she and the greatest tenor of the age, shared the world as members of the Metropolitan Opera company several years ago.

Madame Bianchi, or in private life Mrs. Edward F. Sharpless, of No. 241 Edgewood drive, wife of the manager of the Orpheum theater and one of the principal owners of the Marion theater, feels keenly the loss of a friend in the death of the great Caruso. She was most enthusiastic in her praise of him as a friend and associate. For six years Mrs. Sharpless was premier dancer with the Metropolitan Opera company and was associated with Caruso every day at rehearsals and performances.

As Great Big Boy. "I can only think of Caruso as a great big boy, full of fun," she replied when asked by a Star reporter late Friday afternoon for something about the life of the singer—from the other side of the curtain.

"He was everybody's friend and always had a kind word for every one. He sat with the stage hands, borrowed cigarettes from them, heard their hard-luck stories and laughed with them. If any one around the theater was sad he tried to cheer them up. He had a heart of gold and everybody loved him."

"He had the best disposition, was not conceited and was generous to a fault. I'll bet Caruso had more people living off him than any other man in the country. He couldn't refuse anybody anything he thought would make them happy."

Paid Every Night. "I remember one time when we were at the auditorium in Chicago just a short time before we expected to leave for Europe. Caruso was always paid every night and always in money, not checks. His evening's salary was on the table and his wife looked at it and said: 'Oh! I had only one of those bills I could take my wife with me to Paris.' Caruso said nothing but that evening the wife found a $500 bill in his pocket. Somewhat disturbed he went to Caruso, showed him the bill, saying he could not explain how it got in his pocket. 'Never mind,' replied Caruso. 'If it will make you happy to take your wife with you to Paris, I am glad.'"

"We had great times around the theater. Imagine Caruso singing with us in a quartet. He often came to ballet practice and insisted on learning to dance. He was almost as often put to rout by the ballet master who declared he would break up the rehearsals."

A Close-Up. "Caruso never forgot his mother, and always kept her picture in his dressing-room. The picture was old and almost completely faded, but it was very dear to him and he always kissed it before going on the stage for a performance."

"That Caruso won his audience was proven the world over. I was in my home in Vienna when he sang 'Aida' with Emma Eames at the Royal de Opera. His audience in their enthusiasm removed his carriage horses and hauled him back to his hotel."

"The first year in America was very hard. Caruso could speak no English and neither could I. I could speak French and German and I used to teach him German and he taught me to speak Italian around the theater between rehearsals."

In Frisco Quake. The company was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake and, with the exception of Caruso and Scott, lost all their belongings. There, two ran to the Palace hotel and carried their trunks out on their backs. They paid an enormous sum to have their baggage taken to Oakland and put aboard the company's special train.

The train on which the company went to San Francisco left New York with thirteen cars. That thirteen is an unlucky number was the belief of most of the members of the company and a general objection to the number was raised. Whether or not Mrs. Sharpless shared the belief she did not state, but she has reason to believe it was, as she, Caruso and a number of other members of the company, were marooned for several hours on a western plain when the coupling of the diner broke. The train went into San Francisco with twelve coaches.

Mrs. Sharpless' sister, Mrs. Helen R. Diegle, of Bennett street, also knew the singer quite well, having traveled with her sister as a child. Mrs. Diegle and the great man were taken around the theaters and it was to the little girl Caruso often said his great role as the stand-in for the wings during many of his performances.

OTIS L. BOGER WOULD SERVE CITY AS MAYOR

Was Born in Marion County and Has Lived in Marion Most of His Life.

Otis L. Boger, who would like to serve the city as mayor, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination at the primary election August 9. He was born in Marion county, on a farm east of Walla, and is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Boger. When eight years old he became a resident of Marion and has lived here ever since, with the exception of two years spent in Washington and Oregon. He has been one of the successful business men of Marion, engaged in the plumbing and heating game, and he has made a payroll in the city for the past fifteen years. Like all good citizens should be, he is married, his bride having been Miss Ethel G. Brady, and their wedding occurred in 1904.

In his early days he attended the public schools, then learned the trade of plumbing and has done some of the best work in the city. He is yet actively engaged in the business on West Center street. When a young man he was a baseball player and was known by nearly everybody in the city as "Doc." He has helped for many years to promote all kinds of sports in Marion and has taken active interest in the city parks, particularly Lincoln park, which he helped in a large way to finance and develop. He served on the city council one term and was appointed by Mayor Santter, a member of the civil service commission. He is a property owner and a taxpayer in the city for twenty years. He says that besides being a Democrat and a good citizen, he has never missed voting, has taken an active part in the city affairs, and is a member of the Elks, Eagles and several other lodges. He has always been fair to union labor, he says, and believes in a square deal for all, whether rich or poor.—Advertisement-1.

Why Leave Home For Vacation? Asks Ring

Some people say it was going to New Jersey that upset arpentier.

To the editor: Along this time of yr. most people is either back from their vacation or just going on it and either way they are talking about it and thinking what a good time they are going to have or trying to pretend like they had one, and more than one of my friends has asked me where am I going on my vacation and I tell them I ain't going nowhere and then they say, "Oh that's right, you have one all the yr. around," which is suppose to be a humorous remark so we all enjoy a good laugh which is a whole lot easier than explaining every time that the reasons I ain't going nowhere is 2 in number, one of which is that I haven't got no charge acct. with the R. R. companies and the other reason is that when a man lives in a place like I live in he don't half to go nowhere because he can indulge in all the comforts of a summer resort right here at home. That is, except mosquitos, which I take my oath that since I been living in Great Neck I only seen 2 of them and they both had a New Jersey license.

But if a summer resort can be a summer resort without mosquitos then we certainly have got one and as a matter of fact I don't hardly miss the mosquitos at all on acct. of the frys which isn't nothing like the frys we use to have out west as these boys don't just tease but they are in earnest and take right a hold. Just ask some of the guests who we have entertained by leaving them set out on the porch, which a man told us last spring, probably in a joking way, that he would screen it for $250.00, and they will tell you that they had just as much fun slapping their ankles and squawking as though the Mosquitos had a Local here and as for results why spend a couple days amidst Long's Island's frys and all your friends will remark how nobby you look.

A man like myself naturally don't like to brag about their home, but here is a spot that has got all the advantages of country life and the seashores and yet only 15 miles from the metropolis so as you can have dinner at home and then run in to N. Y. to a musical comedy and leave N. Y. again at 3.22 and be in bed a little after 10 o'clock without missing none of the show as they generally spring the joke in the 1st act.

Personly I kept away from the big town last summer from Aug. 25 till the 1 of Oct. and both of us stood it pretty good though when I finally did have to go in, it was kind of hard to pick up the language.

Cutting the Running Time.

However, there's some men that their business is so important that they can't go to places like up in Maine or the 1000 Floating Islands on acct. of being too far from N. Y. as well as other men that haven't no business in the city but are 12 witted. Well, Great Neck is the ideal spot for these kind of people as they can drive in in 45 minutes or get there on the train in 24 minutes, which they even cut 9 minutes off that by taking a real estate man about the trains. You can have a picnic in our front yard and a good many people does same every Sunday p. m. and seems to enjoy themselves almost as much as though they knew whose grounds they was picnicing on, and in return I am sure I couldn't be no kinder of them if we was acquainted, so it looks like our relations may as well continue like they are, namely "they haven't no ideal who I am and the only clue I got in regards to them is that they are fond of water-pistons but don't like the crust part of bread.

"Spend a couple of days with Long's Island frys and all your friends will remark how nobby you look."

As far as sports and games is concerned I have got a tennis court under constructions in the back yard which a Greek god from Port Washington started building it and said he would have it finished by the 1st of June and they's lively betting around the neighborhoods as to what yr. he referred to, but any way it don't make much difference as at my age it had to be this June or never. But right across the street is Manhasset Bay where nimrods can enjoy themselves shooting gulls and we have also got a boat which a young man that claims to be working for us bought himself to go eel fishing in it and we can use it to row across the bay and back as soon as he furnishes it complete with a pr. of oars which he says he is waiting till he gets paid.

However, boating, fishing, tennis and etc. is pleasures that can be enjoyed anywhere, but after a person has lived here a while they can get more enjoyments out of the native gambling games amongst which is a game called Shake which you play at the dinner table and the contestants takes turns picking up the salt shaker and trying their luck with it, and whatever comes out they can have it.

Another native sport is driving over to the R. R. station in the P. M. to watch the Great Neck actor colony say good-by to their wives and vice versa and wonder what do they say to each other, and still another is a guessing game which is played only when the fire whistles blows in the neighboring towns and everybody tries to guess whose house has just burned down.

Healthful Air.

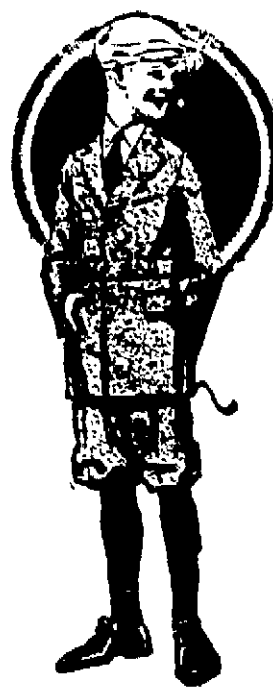

People that likes the gay social cess pool can get plenty of it but personally we don't have much o. ourselves as the house is generally always full of regular customers, but once in a while we entertain the overflow from the house next door where they have big parties every week and but the host is a mute and sometimes the silence begins to pail on his young visitors and they drop in at our joint for a few minutes gayly.

These is just a few of the pleasures which I can enjoy without going on no expensive vacation, and as for the climate they's hardly a night all summer when you can sleep without your night gown and in the day time the sun comes out along about noon sometimes and it gets kind of hot, but most of the day people has to wear their collars, and all and all the air seems healthy and in fact is was in this atmosphere that Geo. Carpentier got in such good shape for the big fight and a good many people thinks he would of stayed in the same shape if he had stuck to Long Island but it was wrong to New Jersey that day that upset him.

FOSTER'S WEATHER

Washington, August 6.—The drought that has struck eastern Canada, particularly Quebec, Labrador and some spots east of the great lakes in America, is the same drought that has rained parts of northwestern Europe, including Great Britain and parts of Russia and France. I was not sure the drought would reach eastern parts of this continent and therefore did not include the latter in my drought forecasts, but the drought for western Europe was well advertised. I expect August to be the most disastrous month of that great drought and that the drought will end during the week centering on October 1. The strange thing about these droughts is that the same planetary forces that cause the droughts on land also cause evaporation of sea water that waters the land where the drought does not exist. The north Atlantic high barometer has great influence in carrying that moisture—this season—but, strange fact, the moon causes that great, so-called high to shift north and south in an apparent irregular way. This last great discovery was made by an eminent French astronomer. A lack of means has prevented the complete working out of this drought knowledge.

Following some lower than usual temperatures a storm center will push a great high temperature wave southward and it will cover Alaska, northern Rockies, northern Pacific slope and northern plains section. Generally warmer weather always precedes the eastward movement of these storm centers and this one, as it moves southward, will cross meridian 90 near August 14 and will reach the Atlantic coast near August 17. Temperatures of this storm period will average near normal, but, for lack of severe storms, rainfall will be deficient. Mexico, west of the Rockies, seems to be most favored. The first half of September promises severe storms and an increase of rains which, in a large part of this continent, will be favorable for saving winter grain. At least two-thirds of the winter wheat lands of north America will produce good winter grain crops for 1922. But a considerable portion must fall on account of dry weather the coming fall or during next year's crop season. I can not give full details for every locality through these bulletins. I can say, however, that the demand will be unusually great because of failures in other countries.

CONSIDERABLY LOWER THAN STATE ESTIMATE

Canton Company Low Bidder in Marion—Gallion Road.

Considerably lower than the total cost estimate, $422,064, of the state highway department's engineer, are the numerous bids just received by the department, relative to proposed construction of twelve miles of highway in various parts of the state. The low bid of $3,808 was submitted by the Canton-Friedman company, Youngstown, on a water-bound base, for 1 1/2 miles of the Marion-Gallion road, Marion county. V. G. Secord, Lakota, submitted a bid of $1,087 for erection of a bridge on the Marion-Gallion road. The highway department's engineer had estimated the cost of the bridge at $2,924.

R. H. Shaffer company, Columbus, was low bidder, $29,878, on 1.192 miles of the Aten-Middletown road, Butler county, contractor to furnish bitum. The department's estimate for this work was $68,748. On macadam for the same section of highway, the Ada Construction company was low bidder, $40,812. Although the department's estimate was $128,996, John M. Hennessy, Piqua, submitted a bid of $105,718 for resurfacing 4.15 miles of the Dixie highway in Allen county.

WITH THE PUGS

Last Night's Fights.

At Boston—Mike Gibbons won every round of a ten-round bout with Gus Platts, former British middleweight champion.

At New York—Mel Coogan won a technical knockout over Larry Hansen for four rounds. Freddie Reese and Ray West boxed a twelve-round draw. Mike McCabe knocked out Joe Moran in the second round of a scheduled twelve-round bout.

At Newark—Jake Hayes knocked out Young Ketchel in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve-round bout.

At Cincinnati—Pat Walsh, Cincinnati middleweight, knocked out Harry Raskins, Detroit, in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve-round bout.

Meet in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Aug. 6.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world and Danny Frush, who seeks the crown, met here again today in an effort to agree upon terms for a twelve-round bout September 17 or 19, to a decision, at Dunn field. Kilbane declined to go ahead under articles previously signed, because, he said, Frush's manager had promised him a bonus of $12,000 to enter the ring. Sammy Harris, the Baltimore lad's manager, denied this.

BASEBALL

Tagging the bases.

The Yanks clung to first place by trimming the Tigers with Carl Mays in fine form.

Cleveland's tribesmen are slipping. The Senators put them on the skids again with Morridge southpawing in great shape.

Groh saved the Reds from a shut-out by Brooklyn, with a double in the ninth, scoring on Duncan's single. Mitchell pitched in fine form for the Dodgers.

Fred Toney finally subdued the Cards, aided by a timely triple from Frank Frisch's bat.

Dykes, Walker and Perkins registered home runs for the A's and won their game from the Browns.

The Pirates made it three in a row against the Phillies, by timely hitting of Jimmie Rink.

Eleven ringing hits by the Boston Braves put the Cubs to rout.

Ruth Three Short.

New York, Aug. 6.—Babe Ruth must make three home runs today, if he wants to catch up with his 1920 record. By failing to register his thirty-ninth home off George Dauss in Friday's game, Babe fell one homer behind August 6, last year, he made two circuit swats off Dauss, at Detroit, and if he does not connect for a trio of home runs, he will be way behind for the first time this season.

VELOCK ON SPORTS

New York, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard has perfected a defense for the left-handed jab of Low Tender, who will attempt to take the world's light-weight championship from him in Philadelphia, next Friday night. Close friends of the champion passed this tip around town, today, as Leonard finished training in a local gymnasium preparatory to leaving, tonight, for Philadelphia, where he will do only light work, next week.

Though he has faced boxes of nearly every style and type, Leonard has never yet fought a real left-hander and as Tender is one of the very few good "southpaw" boxers developed within the memory of present-day fans the champion will take no chances of being surprised.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S POPPER.

(BY HOWARD R. GARIS.)

(Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, he met Billie Wagtail, the little boy goat. Billie looked rather sad and forlorn, shuffling along and kicking his hoofs in the dirt, and Uncle Wiggily knew, right away, that something must be the matter.

"What happened, Billie?" he asked the little boy goat.

"Oh, I—I had to—er—now—sorter stay in after school," spoke Billie, slow like and unpretentious.

"You had to stay in after school?"

"Yes, I did," cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why, how was that? I didn't know you had school during vacation."

"This is summer school. We don't go every day," Billie explained. "But when we do go we have to behave just like in regular school. It's real nice. Uncle Wiggily, summer school is."

The lady mouse teaches and we don't have to study very hard and maybe you'd like to come and—er—and—

"Yes, I know, that's all very well," interrupted the bunny. "But why did you have to stay in?"

"Oh—er—I—I was sorter hoping you'd forget that," stammered Billie. "Well, I had to stay in for making a popper and popping it."

"Do you mean pop corn?" Uncle Wiggily asked.

"No," and Billie shook his horns sideways. "I made a snapper, of popper out of some birch bark, which was as thin as paper. I made the popper and I popped it, like when you blow up a paper bag and burst it, you know."

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "I know. But you shouldn't have popped the popper in school."

"Yes, I know that, too," bleated Billie with a half laugh. "I won't make any more poppers, for it isn't any fun to be kept in after school when the other fellows go swimming."

"Well, suppose you come for a walk with me," said Uncle Wiggily.

So Billie did, and, as the two friends trudged through the woods, the goat boy told how he took a smooth piece of birch bark, and, by folding it as you do to make soldier hats and boats, only a little differently, he made the "popper" as he called them.

"But never again!" bleated Billie. He and Uncle Wiggily were having a good time in the woods, eating wild strawberries, and Mr. Longears was thinking of giving Billie a penny on account of the goat boy having left badly at being kept in when all of a sudden, out from behind the sassafras bush jumped the bad old Bob Cat.

"Gurr-gup!" snarled the Bob Cat, as he grabbed Uncle Wiggily by the ears. "Now for some good chewing!"

"Chewing?" cried the bunny. "Chewing? Why, you haven't any gum to chew, have you?"

"I don't need gum," I don't need gum!" snickered the Bob Cat. "I'm going to chew your ears!"

"Oh, will you please let me go?" bleated Uncle Wiggily as he nestled out of the corner of his eyes that Billie was sneaking away through the bushes.

"Nepel! I'll not let you go until I chew and nibble your ears!" snarled the Bob Cat.

"Well, perhaps my little goat friend will run off and get a piece of gum for me," thought Uncle Wiggily. "If he doesn't, I'll to my ears. That's all, I guess," he thought sadly.

"Get ready, now, I'm going to nibble!" howled the Bob Cat.

"Well, don't nibble very hard at first, until I go used to it," begged the bunny. Uncle Wiggily shut his eyes, for he didn't want to see his ears chewed, and, just as the Bob Cat was drawing him close, all of a sudden there sounded.

"Bang!"

"What's that?" cried the Bob Cat. "Sounded like a gun," said Uncle Wiggily, hoping it was. "Maybe it's a hunter man after you."

"Poh! Nonsense! Of course not!" laughed the Cat.

"Pah! Poppy-pip-pop!" went the noise again.

"Oh, I guess you're right! It is a man with a gun!" howled the Bob Cat. "I'd better run! I'll nibble your ears some other time!" and away ran the bad chap, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all.

"I wonder who did that shooting?" said Uncle Wiggily, half out loud.

"I did," bleated Billie, the goat, coming from the bushes. "I sneaked off and made a popper out of birch bark, and I popped it and scared the Bob Cat."

"I'm glad you did," laughed the bunny. "I guess, after all, it's a good thing you were kept in after summer school, Billie. Now come on and I'll buy you an ice cream sandwich." And he did and Billie ate it.
